

Dramatic Literature:

Grade Level: 12
Length: 1/2 Year
Period(s) Per Day: 1

ESSENTIAL UNDERSTANDING:

Introduction to Drama will expose students to the understanding, appreciation, and criticism of drama; extensive readings and several critical analyses will be required. Students' abilities as readers and viewers of drama will be expanded. Students will also experience drama's ability to express complex feelings and concerns of humanity as shown in individuals, families, and society.

Course Objectives and Expectations:

- 1.) Reading one play every two to three weeks)
- 2.) Class discussion
- 3.) Essay writing (one major essay per play along with numerous other short writing assignments)
- 4.) Small group activities

Student Objectives:

Upon completion of Dramatic Literature, students will:

- 1.) Acquire the critical and technical vocabulary enabling them to describe and analyze, and formulate an argument about, literary productions.
- 2.) Assess how formal qualities of literary productions determine the nature of the experience offered and affect the response of the audience.
- 3.) Evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of varying points of view.
- 4.) Identify the types of human behavior and the motivation that brings about behavior both in literature and life.

- 5.) Generate new ideas, hypotheses, opinions, theories, questions...and develop strategies for seeking and synthesizing information to support an argument.
- 6.) Monitor individual thinking or behavior in order to question, confirm, validate, or correct it.
- 7.) Write and understand expository and persuasive paragraphs and essays responding to various aspects of literature.
- 8.) Maintain high standards in written work: syntax, usage, mechanics, and spelling.

Montana Content Standards

RL.11-12.1 Cite strong and thorough textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text, including determining where the text leaves matters uncertain.

RL.11-12.2 Determine two or more themes or central ideas of a text, including those by and about American Indians, and analyze their development over the course of the text, including how they interact and build on one another to produce a complex account; provide an objective summary of the text.

RL.11-12.3 Analyze the impact of the author's choices regarding how to develop and relate elements of a story or drama, or oral or written history (e.g., where a story is set, how the action is ordered, how the characters are introduced and developed). Craft and Structure

RL.11-12.4 Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in the text, including figurative and connotative meanings; analyze the impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone, including words with multiple meanings or language that is particularly fresh, engaging, or beautiful. (Include Shakespeare, works by American Indian authors, as well as other authors.)

RL.11-12.5 Analyze how an author's choices concerning how to structure specific parts of a text (e.g., the choice of where to begin or end a story, the choice to provide a comedic or tragic resolution) contribute to its overall structure and meaning as well as its aesthetic impact.

RL.11-12.6 Analyze a case in which grasping point of view requires distinguishing what is directly stated in a text from what is really meant (e.g., satire, sarcasm, irony, or understatement), include works by and about American Indians. Integration of Knowledge and Ideas

RL.11-12.7 Analyze multiple interpretations of a story, drama, or poem (e.g., recorded or live production of a play or recorded novel or poetry), or traditional American Indian oral histories, evaluating how each version interprets the source text. (Include at least one play by Shakespeare and one play by an American dramatist.)

RL.11-12.9 Demonstrate knowledge of eighteenth-, nineteenth- and early-twentieth-century foundational works of American literature, including American Indian works, including how two or more texts from the same period treat similar themes or topics. Range of Reading and Level of Text Complexity

RL.11-12.10 By the end of grade 11, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems, in the grades 11–CCR text complexity band proficiently, with scaffolding as needed at the high end of the range. By the end of grade 12, read and comprehend literature, including stories, dramas, and poems, at the high end of the grades 11–CCR text complexity band independently and proficiently.
